Explanation of PR Position:

Elee: The PR has the general responsibilities of the E-Board. More specifically the PR is in charge of making all the advertisements via posters and social media posts. They make the placards for the E Board and the halls, make invitations for events, are in charge of the Hasbrouck display case and are in charge of the print quotas for the halls.

Expectations:
Organization Skills
Creative Responsible
Good Teamwork Skills
Good Communication Skills
Open to Criticism
Timeliness
Professional when dealing with the Print Shop
Good with Photoshop Software

Presentation:

Sam: Hi everyone, my name is Sam Halligan and I’m running for Public Relations Officer. My journey with RHSA started last semester when I was elected RHSA for my Hall Government. Ever since then I’ve meet great people and made many great friends; I love you all. I feel at home at RHSA and I feel like I can do something to give back to the community. I have some ideas but I can talk about them during question and answer. The duties of the PR include updating the Hasbrouck case, creating posters and flyers around campus at least two weeks before the event via TV, Radio, Flyers, maybe even an app. I think a PR should be organized - I have a planner that I use - and they should be creative. I made some sample flyers from past events to show you. As PR I would also have to work with the SAUS office to get posters stamped and work with the print shop owners Jeff and Jim to print shop to get poster done on time. I’m really excited to give back to the community, to bring new ideas to RHSA and to work with the new E-Board. I yield.

Questions
- You said you were thinking of making an app, how would you do that and how would you make it available and let people know it exists?
  Sam: I would call it NPRHSA; I was a computer science major so I know how to program an app and basic programming skills. I would first work on making the app on Android and get it up and running that way. It would be better communication with people on campus; flyers can only go so far. TV and radio hasn’t been used too much in the past but almost everyone has a smartphone and with the app there would be a calendar with our events on it and there would be push notifications to alert people about when events are. It would be also great to have applications online, have the minutes on the app and allow people to upload photos to the app.

- Who have you spoken to in reference to this position.
  Sam: I spoke to Elee, Rui, Sam Han, Tara Sestanovich and almost Steven Sullivan.

- What was the best advice you got from a past PR?
Sam: I was told to be creative. I think it’s really important for a PR to be creative and be able to think of new ideas to advertise and draw people to come to events. I was also told by Sam and Rui to have posters done in a timely manner and to have them hung up at least a week and half before events happen so it gives time for students to hear about them and get excited to attend them.

- What do you believe is the most difficult part of being a PR and how do you plan to handle that?
  Sam: I think the biggest challenge is time management and organization. Being on E-Board is a huge time commitment but I think I’m prepared. I have a planner and I am to think ahead and plan for things.

- What made you decide to run for PR?
  Sam: I work really well with Photoshop and when I first looked at the position I vibed really well with it. I think I can do this job effectively and make it my own.

- How would you handle not getting flyers from the printshop on time or messing them up all together?
  Sam: As long as I keep in contact with them throughout the semester and if they mess something up, I’m sure we can work things to get everything done on time.

30 Seconds Left
Move to extend by Five Minutes
Second

- If there was a blackout on campus and you couldn’t get the flyers printed out how would you handle the situation?
  Sam: I would plan ahead if that happens, I would like to have all my flyers created and printed ahead of time so I have time to give them out to the halls.

- What if an AC meeting was cancelled and you couldn’t get the posters to the halls?
  Sam: I would walk to each hall and give them to the hall government members myself.

- Do you have any prior experience with the duties of a PR?
  Sam: I’ve never had the title of PR but I have worked a lot with photoshop and Paint so I have a lot of experience with the software needed to be a PR.

- The print shop can get swamped sometimes may not get things finished on time; what would you do if an AC meeting cam and your poster wasn’t done?
Sam: I would apologize to the AC and get them out as soon as I could. I would have them ready for the next meeting or again deliver them to each hall myself.

- If invitations for events didn’t get handed out in time what would you do?

  Sam: I would go out of my way to get them to the hall governments.

Discussion

Motion to open discussion: Lefevre
Second: Bliss

- We were impressed by how many past and current PR’s Sam went to talk to about the position, even going as far back as to talk to Tara who was PR almost a decade ago.
- Sam knows the software needed to create posters and placards which is important.
- It’s really nice that he brought samples of flyers he made to show he can make good flyers.
- It shows dedication that he said he would walk to all the halls on campus to give flyers out if he couldn’t at a meeting.
- Sam shows he is creative in thinking about creating an app to help get out information to the residents.
- He never had the title of PR but he posses the qualities and skill to do the job well.
- He was very quick and decisive in answering the situational questions and gave simple but effective answers.
- Sam has experience with hall government as an RHSA rep so he knows people and is excited to work with the E-Board next year.
- He was very active during conference and that show he is dedicated and that he can do will on E-Board.

STUDENT CONCERNS 10:06PM

Rui: We really need the light switch fixed in the Observatory.

Breanne: The school was very vague about what was open and what was closed on campus before break and what time things opened when we got back so they should be clear on those things in the future.

OPEN FLOOR 9:59PM

Brandon: Please send in NACURH applications, the STARS program proposal forms and the sign in sheets for STARS as soon as you can. Any questions or concerns please email newpaltznccs@gmail.com.

Bliss: Wednesday at Shay O'Brien's there is a Dine to Donate event so please stop by!
Bliss: The Oracle is hosting a Free Speech vs. Hate Speech Rally outside Humanities so please come by and discuss with us.

Lenape: The Programming Council is having a Kindergarten Night Friday from 10pm to 12am in the MPR.

Scudder: The Animal Rights Association is having a movie night April 4th in LC 102.

Angelique: I have an extra NRHH flyer so if anyone is missing one please see me after the meeting. Also remember that Hollywood videos are due next week and if you haven’t already handed in your sheet that says what everyone did please hand that in and make sure that all active members on your hall government are helping make this video.

Katie: I’m changing my office hours on Tuesday to be from 12:30pm to 2:30pm.

Meryl: If you are graduating, be sure to order your cap and gown and pick it up at the bookstore.

Rui: This Saturday is Accepted Students Day so be nice to the visitors and show some New Paltz love. There is a planetarium show next Thursday at 7:30pm hosted by Dan Brogan so check that out. We also have a lot of money left for funding requests so if you need money please come to us.

Breanne: The Radio station is looking for new PSA’s to play so if you want us to make one for your club or event email the date, time and an explanation of what’s going on to wfnp.production@gmail.com

Andrea: I emailed the Presidents and Historians of all the hall governments so you can edit your page for the yearbook so be sure to work together on that.

Ridgeview: If you see any trash around campus on accepted students day please pick it up so campus looks nice.

Tim: On Thursday I’m having a cereal bar program so there will lots of different cereals and milks and it will be at Dubois at 6:30pm

Dubois: If you got the email that Veteran Services sent out please send some funding for them so they can put on an upcoming event.

Andrea: On Thursday at 5:30 I’m having a pasta program and will be talking about privilege so come by.
