CALL TO ORDER 9: 03PM
We have two main goals for tonight. Well, three. Four. The first two are to have a great meeting, and to elect someone into a position. We also want to have fun, and most importantly, we want to keep the side chat down. You might be saying, “Why? That’s boring!” Well, we do have a reason. It keeps you guys here, like, half an hour longer because we’re saying “Excuse me” the whole time. We’re having fun, yeah, but we also want to go home at some point. Keep it fun, light, and efficient.

MYSTERY ACTIVITY 9:04 PM
To start off, we’re going to play Freeze Dance! Everyone who wants to play can enter the square. The winner is Emmy from Dubois!

NRHH 9:13 PM
Benjy - Hey guys, I only have ten things. I’m kidding. I just have a little update about what’s going on. Our GIs are this week! Thank you to those who came to the one tonight in Bouton Hall. We’re having one tomorrow night at 7:30pm in Lenape, one on Wednesday at 7:30pm in Crispell, and one on Thursday at 7:30pm in Bliss. I’m leading that one, so come by. Applications are due 4/4 by 11:59pm, and recommendations are due on 4/6. If you can’t make any of the GIs, you can talk to Catherine about it. We hope to see you there! We hope you get pumped! We hope you apply for NRHH this year! It’s gonna be awesome.

Artsy BUZZ Karaoke
That’s me! Thank you guys for coming to Artsy BUZZ. We hope you had a good time drawing and singing. We also premiered our super cool crewnecks, which will be raffle prizes at our upcoming events! I’m not sure if we’re giving them out at all of them. Looks like you’ll have to come to every event to try and win. Thanks for coming!

Recyclemania
No Recyclemania update.

Historian
Hello everyone! So, you might have heard of this thing called yearbook. Well, we have it for college, too. Well, for RHSA, not for college, but you know what I mean. Anyway, I’m in charge of the committee who makes it! I can give you a sneak peek by showing you last year’s, and if you’re interested in helping to make the one for this year, give me your email and we can talk about it! Usually, the Historian of your hall does it, but you can do it if you want to. I’ll email you over Spring Break about it. If it sounds like something you’d be interested in, let me know.

Coffeehouse
Hi everybody! Coffeehouse is tomorrow from 6pm to 8pm. We’re going to have coffee, doughnuts, and hot chocolate! If you want to sing, or show of any kind of talent or performance, you can do that! You can sign up before the event or during, or even if you don’t sign up, you could probably still perform, but it’s definitely better to sign up in advance! The Google Form can be found on our Facebook, and if you email us, I'll send you the link. You can contact me in any way, or message the RHSA Instagram @nprhsa. We're going to be getting you stuff from Dunkin’ Donuts!

Hollywood
Hey y’all! So Hollywood proposals are due today! If you have them, hold them up and I’ll walk around and grab them. If you don’t, that stinks, but you can email them...no, that’s a lie. You can slide them under the door to the RHSA office, Capen B-16. It faces Scudder. You can slide it under the door or give it to one of the E-Board members and they’ll put it in my mailbox. I’ll return those to you after Spring Break, because they were submitted late. You need to have them in by my office hours, which end at 7pm on Thursday. I’ll hand back these ones at some point later in the meeting.

Care Packages
We have lots in the office from last time we got them! The following halls, please send representatives to come pick them up: Lefevre, Deyo, Bouton, Bliss, Lenape, Ridgeview, Scudder, Capen, Gage, Esopus, and Collago. Some of you have one, some of you have twenty, so please bring people and please get them away from me.

Bouton - Where?
Jennifer - The RHSA office, Capen B-16

We had a 10 minute break.

Election
Hi everybody! Welcome back. That was a fun break. Alright. We are about to begin the election. From now until the end, no one who leaves the room can re-enter, there will be no verbal communication, and there will be no technology usage. If we catch you breaking any of these rules, we will ask you to leave immediately. Jennifer is going to be in the back as the gopher. If you need to communicate with one of your AC reps, you can write a note to them and Jennifer will pass it up.

Esopus - Are you allowed to leave between candidates?
Elee - We only have one candidate running tonight, but in general, no.
Scudder - I always feel rude eating when people are presenting. Is it okay that I do that?
Elee - Yeah, that is totally okay. I

PRESENTATION:
Hi, my name is Sarah Creighton and I am running for the role of Secretary. As Secretary, my job would be to take notes during all executive board and AC meetings and to post the minutes from the Associate Council meetings onto the RHSA website. I would also be responsible for emailing the minutes from the Executive Board meetings to the Executive Board, Advisors, and Assistant Director of Residence Life no later than 48 hours after each meeting. I would also be responsible for planning the agenda with the President and posting the agenda for each meeting on the RHSA website. I would also be responsible for leading roll call at AC meetings and keeping inventory of office supplies and purchasing them when necessary. This would be in addition to my general Executive Board duties such as keeping my office hours each week, attending all E-Board and AC meetings, helping plan and set up for programs, attending all programs, and attending one on one meetings with the President and the Advisor. I possess strong time management and organizational skills, which would allow me to be very successful as secretary. I keep and maintain an updated google calendar that I can access from anywhere, and I carry around a planner for assignments. I also use lists to organize my priorities. Because I am also a student, I would make sure to manage my time well so that I can keep my grades high while maximizing the time I can and will commit to RHSA. I am very driven and will be fully committed to my position. I have learned a lot from my involvement with Hall Government. As President, I have learned how to work with others and to delegate tasks. I have also learned to organize and plan for events, and to help provide a welcoming and fun environment for people. Hall Government has given me the opportunity to further grow and develop my leadership skills, and to become more active on campus. I also have a lot of prior leadership experience. Through my experiences working on the Student Council for my Lutheran Leadership ministry, and by representing the Music Therapy Club as the Student Council Representative, I have gained many skills that I could bring to the Executive Board. For example, I work very well with others and am well-acclimated to meeting deadlines. I have learned a lot from each organization I have been involved with, and I am hoping to learn a lot from the secretary position as well. I also have an interesting perspective that I can bring to the Executive Board. Because I have experience working with a variety of different kinds of clubs, organizations and E-Boards, I feel that I would be able to offer a well-rounded perspective to the RHSA Executive Board. I would love to be given the chance to work with the 2018-2019 RHSA Executive Board. If Elected, I will do everything I can to make next year awesome for you guys! I yield to questions.

QUESTION & ANSWER:
Collango - What is your wpm?
Sarah - I don’t have my exact wpm, but I’m fast and would be able to keep up with everything that is going on at meetings.
Scudder - Who have you talked to about running for this position?
Sarah - I talked to Katie, Catherine, and Jules, and I got a lot of helpful information. The best piece of advice that I received is to not be afraid to speak up, and to own it.
Collango - I’m going to pitch a hypothetical situation. If you’re feeling unfocused before a meeting, or not in the right mindset and you’re not present, how would you communicate with the E-Board and how would you rectify it?
Sarah - In this hypothetical, I’m at a meeting and can’t focus? Okay. I could communicate with my E-Board and say that I’m not capable of focusing at the moment, and I’ll make sure to do everything I can to get the information down. I would also keep myself focused enough to not get into that situation to begin with.
Elee - I’d like it if every hall spoke tonight, because every hall is voting tonight.
Bouton - You mentioned that you would do everything you can to make next year amazing. How do you plan to do that?
Sarah - I think it’s really important to maintain good relationships with all of the halls and to be interactive. I’ll also communicate with the E-Board and you guys, and be active and open with everything.
Capen - Capen is wondering how you plan to actively communicate with each hall.
Sarah - I think that the job of RHSA as a whole is to be connected, so through AC meetings, typing minutes, and keeping everyone informed.
Esopus - What are your experiences with taking minutes?
Sarah - I was Youth Director for my church organization vacation bible school. I was responsible for keeping track of everything and sending information to anyone who wasn’t there, because it was hard to have everyone at everything. I was doubling as PR in that position, taking notes and keeping everyone informed through emails. I did that for a couple of years.
Bevier - What attracted you to this position specifically?
Sarah - I really want to be involved, and typing minutes is a way to stay really into it. You have to be really focused. I’d like to be involved with everybody.
Lenape - What was the best piece of advice you received?
Sarah - As I said, I talked to Katie, Jules, and Catherine, and I got a lot of advice. I was told to embrace it, and to enjoy being on E-Board while I can, while doing everything I can to stay on top of it. It was suggested to have good time management and organizational skills.
Collango - In the case of a power outage or the Wi-Fi going out, what do you do?
Sarah - I actually know exactly what to do, because this happened! At one of the meetings, I was taking minutes and the Wi-Fi cut out, so I switched to taking notes on my Mac because I always have that and I don’t need Wi-Fi. I also enabled offline editing on Google Docs, so if the Wi-Fi doesn’t work, it’s not a problem.
Bliss - If elected, what do you think your biggest challenge will be?
Sarah - My biggest challenge would be-
30 second
Motion to extend by five minutes
Second
Sarah - My biggest challenge would be going back and editing the minutes afterwards, because it takes a lot of time, but with office hours, I’ll be on top of it. I will be able to combat that well.
Collango - Do you have any new ideas for RHSA?
Sarah - I don’t have specific new ideas, but I’m very excited to continue doing a lot of what we have been doing, and I’m sure that, as we go, I’ll have ideas.
Crispell - I don’t know how to word this, but what attribute of yourself would you want to bring to E-Board for next year? Something that you find you do very well that you think will help the E-Board next year.
Sarah - I’m very driven, and I’m a perfectionist. I’m excited to focus on tasks and get things done. I don’t like doing things halfway. I always put my all into it.
Gage - What do you love about RHSA?
Sarah - I love the community. I love everyone, I love getting involved, and everyone’s amazing. I love it.
Deyo - What other time commitments would you have?
Sarah - I will not be continuing with most of my current activities. Next year, I’ll have this, if I get it, my education, and I’m applying to be an RA, so potentially that Collango - If you get both this and RA, how would you balance that?
Sarah - I know they will both be big time commitments. However, having separate office and duty hours would help, and I’m good at sitting down and focusing. I’ll get my work done no problem. I’ll just use my time as best I can.
Elee - I will entertain a motion.

Motion to Close Q&A: Esopus
Second: Ridgeview

Motion to Open Discussion: Crispell
Second: Esopus

DISCUSSION:
Lefevre - Lefevre believes that she knows how to prioritize, and she mentioned she’s giving up a couple of things to take this and something else. She knows how to manage her time, and she proved it by focusing on this.
Collango - Point of Personal Privilege, can we have the expectations displayed again?
Elee - Yes, of course.
Ridgeview - Ridgeview believes she was confident, and even if she didn’t have the answers for all of the questions, she seemed willing to learn.
Scudder - Scudder believes she is driven and will work really hard for it to be a fun experience for E-Board and for RHSA as a whole.
Capen - Capen is impressed by her past experience, and believes it shows that she will be able to function well in this world.
Collango - Collango believes she has really thought her time commitments through.
Bouton - Bouton believes she’s very aware of the tasks that being Secretary entails and she seems ready to take it on.
Crispell - Crispell believes the candidate is adaptable. In the situation of a power outage, she would be able to very easily move to a different method of minutes-taking.

Collango - Collango is impressed by her ability to answer the hypothetical scenarios presented, especially in regards to the blackout question. She knows protocol, and with the other hypothetical, she advocated for herself and was willing to ask for help.

Bliss - Bliss thinks the candidate was well-prepared and knowledgeable.

UPCOMING EVENTS 10:09 PM
Coffeehouse, March 13th, SUB100N, 6pm-8pm

HALL CONCERNS 10:09PM
Collango - The showers in Andrea’s wing are still ice water. I submitted another work order.
Andrea - Angie submitted one two nights ago, and I submitted them Sunday night, so check back soon.
Bevier - There’s still no Wi-Fi in the basement.
Elee - I’m on it.
STUDENT CONCERNS FOLLOW-UP 10:10PM

I want to apologize for the lack of follow-ups. The system we used for follow-ups got backed up and now we’re figuring it out. I am going to need updates on some concerns, some old and some new, so stand by for this next part.

In regards to things around campus that might be work orders, we recommend submitting work orders through faculty instead of through RHSA. You can tell an RD or any other faculty member, and they can put it in. It’s much faster than going through us, because we can’t submit them ourselves and we have to go through another channel to submit them.

In regards to the movable shelving in Element 93, was that issue fixed?

Emily - As far as I know, yeah.

In regards to the crumbling step between Lecture Center and the library, they keep putting a cone up, so someone knows about it. We’re thinking they’re waiting until the summer to fix it.

In regards to the lack of hot water in the Old Library, bring it up to a staff member in that building and they can handle that.

Collango - That issue was fixed.

Mazel tov. In regards to Deyo’s vending machines, are they still warm?

-- Two bodies have I, though both joined in one. The more I stand still the faster I run. What am I? --

Deyo - Nope. Fixed.

In regards to the door on The Roost, I sent emails upon emails. Sometimes, it’s not super effective. We can call Facilities, though. If an accessible door is broken, call Facilities x3301 and they can help.

In regards to the structural issue of the bridge that freezes over, can we have pictures?

Deyo - Yes.

In regards to the water pressure and heating in Bevier, can we get details?

Bevier - The heat doesn’t turn on.

Elee - Does it vary?

Bevier - No. They only turn it on when it’s hot. The water comes and goes whenever it wants.

Elee - Is that specific to certain parts of the building?

Bevier - It’s building-wide. People were telling us from all over the building that they experience the same thing.

In regards to meal plan dining dollar amounts, we have reminders from the beginning of the year as to why the meal plans don’t always add up. None of the meal plans add up to the $2100 we pay for, and the only time they did was for the Ultimate Flex, since CAS anticipated people using the new Starbucks and Wooster. On the three swipe plan, we give about $15.50 per swipe which is unfortunate, since dinner isn’t that expensive. We are looking currently for reasons on why that occurs, so we’ll get back to you. It is more cost-effective for CAS to make food in bulk/buffet style in Hasbrouck than it is individually, so that’s a factor in all this. Also, last year, 80% of all Ultimate Flex users were eating at the dining hall and wasting 34% more to get into the dining hall as opposed to if they’d had swipes to get in. Also, a third of the money in Ultimate Flex users was used to buy in bulk at the end of the year which is first of all against tax codes and second of all an inefficient use of money. When we have more info we will bring it to y'all!

In regards to classes with the same name but different curriculums, individual departments can handle editing the description of each course to give course-specific information.

Collango - I’ll talk to the department.

Dariana - I personally know from spending time with advisors that, if professors were going to add it, they’d do it themselves, so I’d say reach out to those professors and ask if they can do it.

In regards to the bulletin boards in the SUB by 100N and the SAUS office, they cannot switch the boards because Trailways pays more money to have their information displayed in the high-traffic area.
Elee - The first part of Student Concerns is going to specifically be about the College Music Hall practice rooms. Specific, I know, but it’s an issue that’s been brought up and we’re looking for details on that.
Sarah - All of the pianos are insanely out of tune, so it’s difficult to practice. The conditions of all of them are different, so there’s one that is the “good” piano, and the rest are terrible, so if you want to practice something vocal, it’s not helping you at all. The heating in the rooms is crazy. In some, you’re dying of heat, and in others, you’re freezing, and there’s only six, so there’s a lot of traffic during the day. You can have, like, seven or eight people sitting around waiting at a time, so you have a limited time to stay in there.
Scudder - There are more practice rooms in the basement of College Theatre. Each has a piano, but the heat is ridiculous in those as well.
Esopus - Correct me if I’m wrong, but I’m pretty sure there’s another one on the fourth floor of the SUB.
Andrea - That one is wildly bad.
Jennifer - This isn’t about the quality, but the accessibility. I’m not a music major, but I still play an instrument and I want to use the practice rooms, but I can’t get the code to use them. They make it so hard, and I just want to practice. Can those be made more accessible?
Crispell - Could it be that the pianos are out of tune because of the temperature issue?
Elee - I don’t know. Is that a music thing?
Sarah - That’s a music thing.
Sarah - That you may want to talk with the people who control the temperature.
Pharez - That would only happen with certain instruments, specifically brass ones. The temperature wouldn’t impact that.
Clare - In reference to a previous comment, instruments with strings, such as pianos, do change how tight the strings are based on temperature. If I leave my ukulele in the car overnight and it’s cold, it’s out of tune in the morning.
Collango - In addition, if they do fix the pianos, it’s important to fix the temperature too, or the pianos will just need to be fixed again.
Dariana - In reference to a previous comment, I’m pretty sure there are signs on the air conditioner acknowledging the temperature changes.
Crispell - In reference to a previous comment, do those air conditioners have signs saying not to touch them?
Dariana - I think it’s something about moving them past a certain point.
Sarah - It’s weirdly specific. I can send a photo via email.
Elee - Alright. Now, we’re moving on to General Concerns.
Clare - At the SUB, by Pomodoro’s, after you go up the stairs, there are the bricks.
Elee - Working on it.
Jennifer - Point of information, for the buildings that don’t have buttons, is there a way to get into them with your card? Specifically Smiley?
Elee - You can go to Card Services and get it so that your card will open doors. I know you can definitely do it for Lefevre.
Jennifer - Someone asked me where the card scanner is for Smiley.
Esopus - I don’t think there is one.
Collango - Point of Information, you can go through the Dorsky, which sucks, but you can.
Esopus - Or McKenna. It’s a slight inconvenience.
Clare - I think there’s another door if you go in through those ways, though.
Esopus - There isn’t.
Dariana - I’m taking a class with a professor who is in a wheelchair, and it may seem like a slight inconvenience, but you don’t realize just how inconvenient it is. This school is not as accessible as we think it is. The fact that you have to go through McKenna or Dorsky to get in is ridiculous. Everyone should be able to get in the front door.

Scudder - In reference to a previous comment, in Hasbrouck, people who are in wheelchairs have to go in through a completely different entrance around the back. That’s complete segregation.

Andrea - Nothing is going to happen about that. That would literally be millions of dollars to fix that we don’t have. There’s the lift inside to take you to the area where there’s gonna be the bakery, and even just getting that was, like, millions of dollars.

Elee - It’s a really nice other entrance, though.

Esopus - During the 10 minute break, I was in the bathroom next to the elevators and it took forever, like literally 30 seconds, to turn off the sink. It was the one closest to the door, and regardless of how I turned it, it just wouldn’t go. I don’t know if it’s broken or…

Elee - I might just be a weird knob.

Andrea - Facilities?

Elee - Sure, maybe.

OPEN FLOOR  10:25PM

BK - Hey everyone! So, I am still doing the research activity on relationships that lead to courtship. If you’d like to participate, I’ll be on the bottom floor of JFT from 6:30pm to 8pm on Wednesday. It’s very quick. If you’d like to help out, please come to JFT.

Lefevre - Hey guys. Lefevre is having another event this Wednesday. It’s Battle of the Besties. It was done before in Lenape, but that was Battle of the Roommates, and this time, you can bring whoever you want. If you and your friend win, you get free movie tickets. It’s on3/14 at 7:30pm, and it’s Pi Day, so we’re also getting pies.

Elee - I was a loser in high school and memorized way too much of pi.

Collango - Back when I was in Ridgeview, I put on a program called Hawk Tank. It’s coming to Collango! On 3/14 at 8pm in the Shango B-Lounge, you can come by and learn cool improv skills, play games, and learn how to be quick on your feet.

Bliss - This Wednesday at 8pm, Bliss is having a Luck of the Irish program. We’re going to be putting clovers around the building and having a scavenger hunt. There are going to be $25 Amazon gift cards and food, so come through.

Collango - What time?

Bliss - 8pm

Crispell - All of you who were wondering what happened to UPC’s Women’s Appreciation event, we had to postpone because of the snow day, but good news! On 3/27, we’re having it in the same place, same time. We’re still going to be doing vision boards, painting pictures of women you appreciate, and doing inspirational mirror quotes.

Collango - What is the time and place, in case we forgot?

Crispell - SUB 100N from 8pm to 10pm.

Deyo - Hi guys. So, as you heard last week, we’re trying to start an Engineering Club. It would be open to majors and non-majors. If you have an idea and bring it to us and we see that it can work, you can build it throughout the semester. The goal is to bring students from all backgrounds and focus on projects. There are going to be workshops and team projects, and you can learn things like circuitry and sondering. The whole club will work on a large-scale project and there will be an expo at the end to showcase everything we did. We’re meeting Thursday at 8pm in Resnick 109. Resnick is the brick building next to Wooster. Come by if you’re interested.
Bouton - Hey everyone. I’m that guy from last week again. Two of my programs went on this past week, because March is mad. I had a Mario Kart program that went really well. I also had a study session that went surprisingly well. People wanted to study. Who would have thunk? This Wednesday, the Networking and Job Fair is going on, so if you’re interested in walking with a decently-available person, come to Bouton at 11:30am, or you can go alone, and that’s fun.

Jennifer - Please get your care packages. Please. I don’t want to look at them and we want you to eat the snacks.

Emily - If you want to join yearbook, sign up.

Bouton - Hello everyone. Tomorrow, Bouton Hall is having a Paint-and-Sip with mocktails. We’re gonna paint. You can leave a little early from Coffeehouse, or there’s another event, Circle K from 7pm-9pm in the MPR tomorrow. It’s a charity gala for the Thirst Project so pull up. I’ll be there.

Sam - I have two. Do you like Alex Trebek? Do you like gift cards? On Wednesday at 6pm, I’ll be holding Life Skills Jeopardy in the Ridgeview main lounge. Second, do you like Mario? The video game one. And that Mario, too. This Thursday at 7:30pm in the Ridgeview main lounge, me and Allie are doing a Mario Party program. Bring a DS and come through,

Capen - Where?

Sam - Ridgeview at 7:30pm.

Pharez - Do we need to have the game?

Sam - Nope.

Collango - Which version?

Sam - I don’t know. It’s Allie’s.

Emily - This isn’t RHSA-related. I am doing a project on PCC for one of my classes, so if you have positive or negative feedback you’d like to give me, I’m doing an interview-style podcast, so if you have any experiences, we can set up a time to do that. Thank you.
