CALL TO ORDER 9:05 PM

MYSTERY ACTIVITY 9:05 PM
As all of you know, we’re taking delegates to the NACURH national conference, which is going to be amazing. To make you more excited, I’m gonna play a video. It’s a different one than we showed you a few weeks ago, and it’s going to play.

Mario - For context, the national conference is going to be at Arizona State University-Tempe. This is the video they presented as a bid. A bid is basically, in this case, asking to host the conference. This is what they presented to be allowed to host.

Sam - I have a great joke. Hold on. What do you call a cow that can’t wear flip flops?...Lack-toes.

Emily - As someone who is lactose intolerant...that’s fine.

NRHH 9:13 PM
Rui - Hi everyone! Just a quick update! NRHH applications are still out. Currently, though, our website is down, but if you want to apply, friend us on Facebook at Nrhh Phi Psi and the application is there. I also asked your lovely Historian, Emily, to post the application on the RHSA Facebook and Instagram. They’re due on 4/4 and the letters of recommendation are due on 4/6. If you have any questions, come see me, Catherine Callan, or any chapter members, like Benjy, Sam, and Elee. That’s it. Sorry I’m not as exciting as usual.

SENATE 9:14 PM
KJ - Hi guys. I’m from Senate and I’m KJ. First thing, applications to join Senate for next Fall are coming out soon. I believe Gladys sent out an email to everyone. If not, make sure to look out for it. The application is also for if you want to have a position like VP of Academic Affairs or President, so look out for that. We just had a gun reform rally that had a pretty good turnout. Senate is creating legislation for that right now. Also, Senate has a bunch of committees. A lot of them are filled, but the Transportation Committee is not. I’m currently the only student on it, and I decided to open it up to non-Senate students. If you want to join, come to the next Senate meeting and give your spiel about why you should be a part of the committee. We talk about things like The Loop, parking, skateboards, and bikes. If you’re interested in that, they’re trying to cut The Loop because not a lot of students take it. It’s my job to make sure they don’t cut it. I’m trying to create a survey to send out, so look out for that. Also, Senate meetings are Wednesdays at 6:30pm in SUB 62/63.

Coffeehouse
So, Coffeehouse was two weeks ago. Woah. Thanks for coming! We sang, we danced, we read poetry. It was great to have everyone there. Thanks for coming.

Care Packages
Can the following halls raise their hands? Lenape. Ridgeview. Capen. Esopus. Scudder. All of you have care packages in our office, and we would love it if y’all would come pick them up. Love you big time. Big tings only. If you can come get them, it would be super appreciated. You can come during our office hours, which are on the door and on the website, so check them.

Recyclemania
No update.

NCC
Hey everyone! That video we just watched was from Arizona State University-Tempe, where the national conference will be this May. I don’t know if you remember, but two weeks ago, we showed a video from last year’s conference. The applications to go to the national conference are out now on our website newpaltz.edu/rhsa and are also on our Instagram and Facebook. It’s going to be 5/25-5/28, which is after school ends. We stay on campus a bit longer to go. With that, applications are due 4/3, which is next Tuesday, and interviews will be the three days after that. We should have a decision by that Friday. If you look at the interview times and can’t make any of them, email us. I’m very flexible and I want to make sure that you can interview. I’ll explain a bit of what conference is for delegates. It’s a great experience where you go to lots of programs about different things, including diversity, sustainability, and RHA. I don’t know if you guys have ever been to a Diversity in the Dark program, but it’s a popular program here and it came from NACURH. Jennifer brought it back. It’s a great way to get program ideas, so it’s great if you’re going to be an RA. People come from all over the nation. Come to experience a new environment and step out of your comfort zone. If you’re not sure if you want to go, just apply. If you end up changing your mind and deciding you don’t want to go, you can always deny it if you get accepted. Don’t be afraid to apply.

Scudder - Is there any cost to go?
Mario - It all comes out of my budget. Well, it all comes out of the conference budget. We’re going to be flying over, and the whole ride is paid for. If you want to get a t-shirt or a pin or something, you have to pay for that, but everything else is covered. I love talking about conference, so if you want to talk about it more, you can just ask.

Scudder - One more question. When are applications due?
Mario - 4/3. I’ll give you another reminder next week.

Collango - When are your office hours?
Mario - Fridays 1:03-4:03. Please share this with your hall governments just in case someone else wants to go. We’re trying to get as many applicants as possible.

Dariana - Or you can come to my office hours, which are going to be 1:30-2:30 on Friday!

Mario - That’s during my hours.
Dariana - Oh...I’ll get back to you about that.

Gage - How many delegates are you going to be accepting?
Mario - Four, probably. Well, maybe three. Probably four.

Bevier - Where is it?
Mario - Arizona State University-Tempe. Four delegates will go, along with me, Sam, Pharez, and the next NRHH NCC, so it’s not going to be four of you just stuck with me.

Elee - When I went to NACURH, I met someone from Nebraska and I learned that I knew nothing about Nebraska, and they knew nothing about New York except for “apple”.

Emily - I didn’t meet anyone from Nebraska, but I put on a program, which was really cool, and it was about Dear Evan Hansen and lots of people showed up and I got lucky and people likes it and I got Top 50 Programs, not to toot my own horn, but it’s super cool. You get to submit a program proposal, and they might accept it and support you. Do it. It’s awesome.

Jennifer - Not for nothing, I became an RA this past semester and I got so many ideas from NACURH and everyone thought they were awesome, so if you’re in that position, go to NACURH.

Dariana - It’s also a great place to learn more about different styles of residence life. You can learn about different RHAs, because we’re the only one in the region that calls our organization RHSA. It’s a fantastic opportunity to mingle. When we held conference on campus last year, Andrea and I hosted a program where we talked about sustainability and other schools were really interested. You can learn from each other and find ways to make your campus better. I definitely recommend going. It’s a fantastic time, and it’s a real nerd fest. The best one ever.

Elee - I mistakenly went to a program where they just asked us to put our heads down and we napped for 45 minutes. I went to another one that was talking about the future of RHAs, but their whole idea was to destroy RHA and use the money for other things.

Emily - I went to an advisor program by accident. I walked in and there were a whole bunch of adults and I just ran out.

Jennifer - I did the same thing, but I was too scared to leave.
Mario - Basically, to end this, please apply and come talk to me if you want to know more.
Elee - I hope you all apply. It’s great.

Historian
So, yearbook! I was talking about it two weeks ago. It’s really cool and really fun. When you hear yearbook, you might get scared, but it’s Shutterfly. Come sign up if you’re interested. Essentially, we design pages, and it’s like the Facebook page, but in a book. We take pictures from events and make pages for each event and each hall, and you can bring it back to your home, your residence hall. If it sounds like something you want to be involved in, there are no extra meetings. It’s all online, and you can put it on resumés and it’s really cool. Sign up! I’ll say it again during Open Floor, just in case you forget.

Hallywood
Lights! Camera! Action! So, Hallywood videos are due 4/6, so Friday of next week, to our Facebook page. You’re going to post a link to the Facebook page, so we can see it and be like, “Wow, they did it”. Also, please put your hall name on it so we know who it is. Friday. 4/6. Due. Facebook page. Midnight. I’m so excited to see them!

Elee - I’m really excited to see them because they’re all great. I’m so excited. It’s gonna be really fun to make them and really fun to watch them. Be sure to come to AC meetings after next Friday, because we watch all of them and then we give out awards at Banquet.

We took a 10 minute break.

Elections
We are about to begin, so from this point on, no one who leaves the room can re-enter, there will be no verbal communication, and no technology usage. If any member of the E-Board catches you, you will be asked to leave. One of us, this week it will be Andrea, will be the naked mole rat in the back of the room. You can pass notes up to the voting members in the front. If you are running for PR, please come to the front now. Wait, first, we’re going to do something weird. We had to switch some things around. If you are running for CCC and have the required materials, you can distribute them now.

Okay, bringing it back now. From this point on, those rules are in place.

PRESENTATION:
Hello everyone! I’m Clare Del Grosso, I’m a First Year student, I am president of Lenape Hall, and I believe I will be an amazing PR for the RHSA.

I am very prepared for this position because I am a very creative and artistic person. I am majoring in Graphic Design, and have been taking Graphic Design and Digital Design classes for four years. Because of this, I know how to use Adobe programs like Photoshop and Illustrator very well, and am also aware of concepts of design and color so I can make amazing posters for RHSA events.

As PR, my duties would be more than just poster-making. I will be working closely with Jeff and Jim in the print shop on campus, managing the halls folders and creating the placards for the AC meetings, sending out thank yous and invitations and finding the best and most effective ways to advertise for RHSA events. I have a lot of different ideas for advertising for events beyond just poster making, like contacting the campus radio station, or even making short quick commercials we can put on Instagram, or Facebook, and even utilizing Snapchat to advertise for our events!

While there is a lot of different duties I, as PR, would have to handle, I am very organized and prepared to dedicate my time to this position. It will be important to manage my time because I will have to have posters hung at least two weeks in advance, and I will also need to be prepared to make changes to the poster that the rest of the E-Board requests. I’ll give myself enough time to hear the critiques, make the necessary changes and still have my posters up on time. I will stay organized and manage my time by keeping track of my commitments using Google Calendar, and my desk calendar.

I am also very prepared to be an active and contributing member of the E-Board. I have experience from being President of the Domino Effect Flag team, and from being floor Rep, then AC rep, and now President of Lenape Hall. In these positions I have grown stronger in many ways, and they have helped me to gain many skills that will benefit me as a member of the E-Board. I have hosted many events not just through Hall Government, but also through the union programming council, so I am very excited to host big RHSA events.
I am very excited to grow as a person while being a part of this E-Board, and I hope to help the RHSA grow as well. I yield to questions.

QUESTION & ANSWER:
Gage - What is your view on memes, and how updated are you on them?
Clare - I consider myself fairly up-to-date. I use Instagram and Reddit. It’s a fun way to keep things up-to-date and funny.
Lenape - What is a font that you think you would use a lot?
Mario - Point of Order, let’s be serious with this election. Don’t ask questions that aren’t relevant.
Clare - Comic Sans always.
Deyo - What are some ideas you have to bring to PR and E-Board?
Clare - For advertising, I think we can reach out to the radio station to get commercials and make video commercials. I think something important is reach out to all residents, so collabing with other people is the way to go. UPC is hosting an event with spoken word artist Ruslan, and they’re collaborating with Urban Lyrics, so we can do things like that to reach out past our standard RHSA audience to everyone.
Bevier - What strategies would you use to advertise and do you know da wae?
Clare - I do know da wae and, with poster-making, its about making attractive posters that will catch people’s eyes and making commercials. Because I’m capable of using all Adobe programs, I can use those to make little commercials to put on Instagram and Facebook. While physical posters are great, we have computers for a reason.
Bouton - What is the biggest challenge you think you’ll face?
Clare - I think the biggest challenge I’ll face is creative differences with my E-Board because, as a Graphic Design major and from past experiences, something I experienced on Yearbook was that my advisor wouldn’t like something I did and I would have to change designs. It’s not going to be a Clare Del Grosso event; it’s going to be an RHSA event.
Bliss - How would you grow from this position?
Clare - I think I would grow working on E-Board, specifically working with people and getting different points of view. As PR, I’ll grow by getting more experience with design. It’s always good to have more things under your belt. People will see that I have done great things.
Collango - If you feel strongly about design, do you think you would be able to defend it?
30 seconds
Motion to extend by five minutes
Second
Clare - I think I’d defend it to the best of my abilities, but if they really don’t like it, I’ll change it. It’s not that big of a deal. If it was just one person who didn’t like it, I’d think about talking it out a lot more, but there are more people that I have to take into consideration.
Ridgeview - How do you handle criticism?
Clare - I think I handle it well. Especially through Yearbook committee, my advisors was very aggressive with critiques and it taught me to take into consideration different things that I might not have noticed. If you can’t take criticism, what’s the point?
Bouton - I know you talked about how you would handle the E-Board not liking it, but what if it’s split?
Clare - If it’s split, I think it’s important to compromise. Maybe we can use someone’s font and someone else’s color. While it’s important to have a good design, it’s equally important for them to like it. If it’s with one specific thing, like whether or not they like a specific font, we’d have to talk about it during an E-Board meeting when the design is presented. If I particularly like it, I would weight my opinion more probably, but taking all ideas into consideration is important.

Lefevre - Who did you talk to, and what advice were you given?
Clare - I talked to Sam, Elee, and Rui, and the best piece of advice I was given is to be prepared to take critiques. I’ve talked about it a lot already, so I’m not going to talk about it too much more, but I was also told time management is important. Working on what I have to do. I’ll have to keep on top of it, and not just on time, but ahead of time.

Lenape - What social media platform reaches the biggest audience, in your opinion?
Clare - I think Snapchat. Also Facebook and Instagram, but Snapchat is the easiest to give out at events. We can have the ghost code printed out and distributed at the events. All the other are equally as important, but I don’t know if we use Snapchat all that much, but we can next year and extend the reach father that any PR has in the past.

Bliss - What made you want to run for E-Board instead of staying on Hall Gov for next year?
Clare - Last semester, I heard a lot about conference and so I ran for NCC. I went to SLC, which was so much fun. Conference got me more deeply involved, and hearing about it made me come to more meetings, and with more meetings I-

Clare - The more meetings I went to, the more I loved it. I slowly got drawn in with everything I saw, and I thought E-Board would be really cool. I saw the cool things they did and I wanted to help first-year students like myself extend ourselves.

Collango - How are your organization skills, specifically towards posters?
Clare - So, like, with designs?
Collango - With dates, punctuation, etc.
Clare - I have to make sure to check for typos and stuff. We’d go over it during E-Board meetings and, with keeping stuff straight, I know how to use Illustrator and Photoshop so I know how to use the rules. After four years of taking Graphic Design classes, I’m ready.

Ridgeview - Have you ever had to work under pressure, and how did you handle it?
Clare - Yes, with Yearbook again. With Yearbook, there weren’t too many people on the committee. There were four of us on the committee and 500 people in the class. We had to make sure we had everyone in there. I designed the cover and a lot of the pages. My advisor was very willy-nilly with dates and stuff and would tell us one date and time, and then change it and say that it was due in, like, four days, so if I didn’t have time in my normal schedule, I would go during lunch and after school. If I need something done, I use my time wisely to get it done.

Deyo - What other time commitments are you going to have next semester?
Clare - Tomorrow, I have my second RA and Student Ambassador interviews, so those could be possible time commitments. I will also still work with UPC. I considered running for UPC E-Board, but I think that would be too much, so I will continue to be a general member.

Dubois - If, by chance, you find yourself falling behind, what will you do?
Clare - If I was falling behind, I’d go to the office and work on everything outside of my office hours, and I would work from my room on my laptop because I have all of the programs I would need on there. I would also keep track of my time, which means not working on things last minute but instead having the deadline and two days before the deadline on Google Calendar so I have it done early. If I’m running low on time, that’d be it.

Collango - Do you think you’d be okay with reaching out to other E-Board members if you don’t have time and you have to take care of yourself? You shouldn’t be, like, not eating to get things done.
Clare - If there was something extreme, like I haven’t eaten and I have class and I have an urgent request, I’d tell them I need to take care of myself, and I’m a student first, so I have to do that. Any time not committed to Clare - Eating, school, and taking care of myself would go to PR. Deyo - Being PR, you have to sometimes go through unpredictable conditions like strange weather. Would you be comfortable walking through that?

Clare - Weather has never stopped me before and it’s won’t now. Unless it’s genuinely dangerous, I’ll be out there, hanging posters and going to the print shop no matter what.

Elee - I’d just like to commend you all. That was an incredible Q&A.

DISCUSSION:
Scudder - Scudder believes that she knows what she wants to do, and that she’s prepared for that.
Lenape - Lenape believes that her previous experience shows that she’s good with the programs she’ll need to us.
Capen - Capen believes that she is a good candidate for PR because she’s familiar with Photoshop and other Adobe programs, and she is a good communicator who is prepared for the position.
Bevier - We believe that she is capable of handling this job because her major is Graphic Design, and she already has ideas.
Collango - Collango believes she has really thought through other ideas besides posters, like with Snapchat commercials and reaching out to the radio station. Those are cool, new, and interesting, and will be great contribution.
Esopus - Esopus likes her ideas for collaboration.
Deyo - Deyo believes her answer to how she would change posters if there is a dispute was very satisfactory. It’s important to compromise without changing your vision.
Elee - Move to bless Jennifer

Elections for CCC will take place at the next meeting. Applications for Historian are also due at the next meeting. Andrea could show up with applications and she could go again. I didn’t think she’d get it the first time.
Andrea - Read those minutes if you want T. Sometimes I re-read them if I am in the mood for drama.
HALL CONCERNS 10:27 PM
Bevier - The Wi-Fi in the basement.
Elee - It’s on the list.
Scudder - There is a leak in the Scudder Hall basement and there have been signs for about a month saying that they’re gonna fix it, but nothing has been done.
Chrissy - Have you spoken to your RD about it?
Scudder - No, but other RAs have said.
Chrissy - I’d recommend talking to them first.

STUDENT CONCERNS FOLLOW-UP 10:28PM
I am beyond excited to announce that the gender neutral bathroom in the SUB is open! Go pee there. It’s right next to the prayer and yoga room and the mother center. When you come out of the elevator, you can turn either left or right and go entirely around. It’s on that wing. One room is a meditation room and it also has the gender neutral bathroom there. There’s also a piano room with a terrible piano.
In regards to Mail Services using dead names, Emma Morcone says that mail services gets the list of chosen names from Res Life. If a student has completed the paperwork for the chosen name policy, the mail staff should be able to verify their identity. However, students will still probably have to use their ID card which we know does have their dead name on it. Mail Services should be able to verify it nonetheless. If there are specific students with specific concerns on this, Emma was wondering if they’d be willing to speak directly with her to work on this. If you need her contact information, you can ask me or go to newpaltz.edu/lgbtq.
In regards to the PCC referral system, it only works if students are open to being referred. PCC has a list of at least 50 practices in New Paltz and many more a little ways out of New Paltz that it can refer you to. If you make a referral appointment with PCC, they say they will work with you to find the best referral and then follow up. PCC claims that the most usual circumstance is when they call to follow up students don’t call back or if they do they say they didn’t look into the referrals provided.
In regards to the College Hall practice rooms, space is an issue on campus. That’s a fact. College Hall doesn’t have good sound-proofing. They will work on better tuning the instruments and the AC systems in the rooms, but there’s little else which can be done in the foreseeable future.

STUDENT CONCERNS 10:32PM
Sam - I walked out of the SUB today and there were these loose tiles. I have pictures and I’m going to email them now. They’re near the bench.
Elee - We know about those. Facilities has it on their list. They know about it. It’s up to them now.
Collango - On the main floor of the Fine Arts Building, towards the back of the building, there’s a terrace with tiles, and like half of them are loose and you will trip and die.
Elee - Have you talked to the Art department about it?
Collango - No.
Elee - If you could do that first, it’d be helpful.
Jennifer - Up on the concourse, those stairs, the ones by the Lecture Center and the library, there was a cone on a big hole on them, but it was taken down without fixing the hole. I’d like them to bring to cone back or fix the stairs.
Elee - Okay. As we’ve talked about at other meetings, they’re not fixing it now because it’s a high-traffic area and it’s also hard to work with cement in the snow, but I can look into getting the cone put back.
Bevier - Quick question. When are they going to open the other half of the resident parking lot on Route 32?
Lenape - They sent an email out a couple months ago.
Elee - We’ll look into it.
Emily - Do we know what’s going next to the Crispell parking lot?
RD Anonymous - Another parking lot, I think.
Elee - I’m not mad about that.
RD Anonymous - Don’t quote me on that. Put me in as RD Anonymous.
Scudder - In reference to a previous comment, for whomst is that lot going to be?
RD Anonymous - I don’t know. I heard a rumor about facstaff, or it might be for admissions. It might be for residents. I don’t know. They also knocked down the house across from Lefevre, and I think it might become a parking lot too.
Ridgeview - When is the bakery opening?
Dariana - I was in a meeting about that! They’re hoping for later this semester. They had a huge issue with the wiring and they didn’t have electricity there for a while, but I was in there today and everything looks pretty much installed.
Ridgeview - I just want a muffin.
Dariana - They’re expecting and projecting for it to be done by the end of the semester, so the latest would probably be the fall semester.
Crispell Anonymous - Going back to construction, I work in Hopfer and word is they’re taking the tiny parking lot away from Hopfer and making it a park, so the new lot might be for admissions. Don’t quote me on that.
Elee - Another anon. Let’s call them Crispell Anonymous.
Bevier - In reference to a previous comment, there’s a huge parking lot for visitors right across the street.
Elee - She said for administration, I thought?
Crispell - Faculty for the admissions office.
Deyo - On the way here, I noticed lots of lights out on the Parker side of the curved bridge. The one at the end of the bridge is out, and two more going towards the SUB are all out.
Elee - Chrissy just said you should call FOC in the moment if you see something like that. Getting it fixed is a process for us, and it’ll be fixed faster if you call FOC at x3301.
Collango - In reference to a previous comment, they do answer and they’re actually very nice people.
Capen - Yield to redundancy.

OPEN FLOOR 10:39PM
Benjy - Hello! I have good news! Passover is coming, so if you are inclined to attend a Passover Seder, I’ve got you covered. There are going to be two at the Chabad house on S. Oakwood, right off campus. The first starts this Friday at 8pm and it’s an abridged Passover Seder. The second one is the next day, Saturday, at 8pm and it’s a very in-depth, crazy version.
Lefevre - Bliss and Lefevre are hosting a big Open Mic Night on 4/6. It was a really big thing last semester, and we’re going to continue it! It’s going to be on 4/6 at 7:30pm and there are sign-up sheets all over Bliss and Lefevre. You can come to me if you want to sign up. We’re hoping for a really big crowd, and there’s going to be pizza and snacks. It’s going to be held in the main lounge of Bliss.
Ridgeview - It’s my favorite time of year! HvZ is hosting two events. This Saturday is the Spring Invitational, so there are going to be players from other schools including Binghamton and Rochester coming to play. It’s going to be from 9am to 3pm. Also, my favorite thing, 4/15-4/20 is the Weeklong! If you’re interested, you can come to me if you have any questions and when I have more information about the GI, I’ll let you guys know!
Scudder - How do you make a Kleenex dance? You put a little boogie in it! If you want to hear jokes that are improv, so they’re made on the spot, come to the next TBA show in Bouton on 4/3 at 8pm!
Jules - Rivera House is sponsoring an event called After #Pulse. It’s going to be in Parker Theatre this Thursday 3/29 at 7pm and we have guest speakers coming it. It’s about using art to heal and cope with tragedy, and it’s going to be incredible. Please come by if you can!

Deyo - The Engineering Club just got approved and got chartered! If you like to take on challenges and solve problems, you should join! You don’t have to be an Engineering major. You just have to want to learn, or have an idea that you want to bring to us and we’ll try to make it work. We meet Thursdays at 8pm in Resnick 109.
Gage - Hi! A new club just got approved. It’s a cultural space for Latin American discussion and art. We meet in SUB 405 and we’re having our GI next Monday in SUB 414 at 5pm. There are plenty of E-Board positions open.
Jennifer - There’s going to be a talk on campus about wrongful convictions and the disproportionate convictions of people of color and it’s hosted by the Sociology department. Attorney John Tobin is going to talk, and he’s really great and really passionate about the subject. If you’re interested in anything related to law or criminology, this would be great for you. It’s going to be in LC108 at 6:30pm this Wednesday, so come through.
Benjy - This is just from me, not JSU. I’m going to be shaving before Passover and then growing out my beard as a fundraiser for an organization through AEpi. I’m be collecting money through a link that I’ll post on my Facebook. If you want to know more about the organization, just ask! I’ll be posting beard updates on social media.
Deyo - Hi everyone! So, on 4/14, the Astronomy department will be teaming up with Mohonk Reserve to have a stargazing night. It’s going to be $5 to attend and it’s going to be a great night with good weather. Get a blanket or some lawn chairs and come out. You do have to register, so if you’re interested, let me know!
Bouton - Hello! Hi! It’s your friendly neighborhood TAP, actually representing another organization. Do you like anime, gaming, LARP, cosplay, etc.? Well, you can unleash your inner nerd at NPC, the New Paltz Convention! Cue cheesy smile. It’s a big nerdy convention being held 4/14 and 4/15 in the SUB. It’s free admission and there will be food, games, raffles, anime, all sorts of good stuff! I’ll be doing a walkover if you want to come along with me. I’m also going to be part of a panel called Hot Pepper Anime where we talk about the plots of animes while eating really hot peppers. It’s gonna be great.
Bouton - What room in the SUB?
Bouton - Almost all of them! Lots of them! It’s a big convention so we’re renting lots of space.
Lenape - Hello everyone! I’m doing a program next Thursday because I love poetry. The name of the event is Poetic Justice for Those who Deserve It. It’s going to be at 8pm and there will be food. Well, light snacks. I’m broke. We’re gonna be writing and sharing poetry, listening to others read poetry, and listening to slam poets. Come out. Main lounge of Lenape next Thursday. I’m likely doing it with RA Caitlin and it’s also my program for...what’s the name...Rivera.
Jules - I’m not advising you on this anymore. I’m dropping you. Bye.
Clare - UPC Women’s Appreciation Night. Remember how it was supposed to happen earlier? Well, now it’s tomorrow from 6-8 in SUB100N! Come by and appreciate women. We’re great. On Wednesday, we’re having spoken word artist Ruslan perform in the MPR at 8pm. I saw Ruslan at NACA in the fall and he’s incredible. Go to those things. Great.
Scudder - Hello! On 4/7 at 5pm, Scudder is hosting a pancake event! It’s gonna be great! Also, on 4/15, I’m hosting a program. We’re gonna be watching Shark Tale because we’re the Scudder Sharks.
Collango - What time?
Scudder - The 4/7 event is 5pm-6pm and the 4/15 event starts at 3pm.
Emily - I just have three quick things. Might be more. Can’t remember. Yearbook! If you want to be a part of it, come up after this meeting! Please do it with me! I have some cool people who have already signed up. Second thing, Marissa Richman, come up here after the meeting. I can’t remember the rest. Keep going and I’ll try and remember.
Mario - Apply to conference. That’s it.
Ridgeview - I love edible birds and I love houses, and next Tuesday at 6:30pm, I want to see who can make the best edible Peeps next. Come to Ridgeview to try!
Katie - Hi everyone! My name’s Katie and I’m an Evolutionary Studies minor. If you’re interested, on 4/23, there’s going to be an open lecture given by Glenn Geher on positive evolutionary psychology. It’s a cool walk to combine the two subjects. He talks about things like altruism. If you’re interested, come by! It’s going to be from 6pm-7:30pm in the CSB Auditorium. I’ll be there, and maybe I’ll see you there.
Collango - In reference to a previous comment, Shawn did a similar program with gift-wrapping and it was so fun. I’d go.
Emily - This is a non-Historian thing so I forgot, but I’m doing a project for my Audio Production class about PCC and I want student feedback. If you’ve had an experience, positive or negative, with PCC that you’d like to talk about, we can set up a time to do that. I’d like students to talk in this. If you have anything to say, let me know! It’s good to have your voice heard!
Bliss - If you know how to play Texas Hold ‘Em, Bliss Hall Gov is having a program for it at 7pm on 3/28.
